THE OPPORTUNITY

Three debuts, three goals. Next: AFCON 2027 at home.

Mohammed has a habit of arriving with a goal. He scored on his league debut for Kenya Police in February 2025, on his Kenya debut against Gambia in March 2025, and with his first touch in the Tanzanian league for Simba SC in December 2025. [7][9][12]

In between, he won the 2024/25 Kenyan Premier League title with Kenya Police and, in June 2026, scored twice in Kenya's 4-0 win over Lesotho. [8][13][14]

The timing is right. He is 23, back in Nairobi with Nairobi United, and Kenya co-hosts the Africa Cup of Nations from 19 June to 17 July 2027, with the June 2027 transfer window opening alongside it. [1][3][15]

What this means for you

- He fits a 4-2-3-1 as the left-sided No. 10, or a 4-3-3 as an inside-left winger with an overlapping full-back. [19]
- He joined Nairobi United as a free agent in October 2026, after leaving Simba SC by mutual agreement in July. [3] [4]
- We run the checks with you: identity and registration in writing, a full fitness screen and three fully coded matches.

Every step up came with a goal

HIS GAME

A technique-led creator from the left

How to read: each slice or point is scored out of 10. Every chart starts at 4.0 in the centre, the shaded ring is the 6.0 to 6.9 developing-professional band, and the dashed ring marks 7.0.

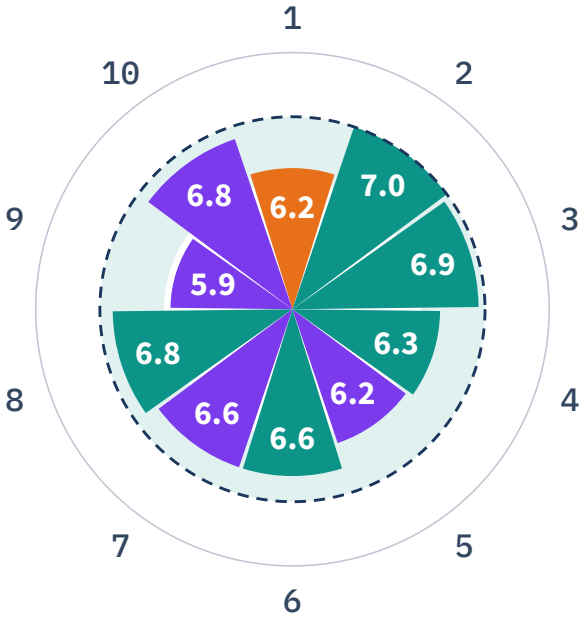

Technical quality leads his game

Technical	6.8
Tactical	6.4
Physical	5.4
Mental	6.5

Afritech Sports scout grades from public match records, set against Kenyan Premier League attackers. The physical grade uses match records only; measured sprint and strength testing is part of the plan. [19]

As an inside-left winger, his edge is beating players and carrying the ball

1 Acceleration	6.2

2	1v1 dribbling	7.0
3	Ball carrying	6.9
4	Crossing and delivery	6.3
5	Final-third decisions	6.2
6	Chance creation	6.6
7	Movement into the box	6.6
8	Finishing	6.8
9	Defensive work rate	5.9
10	Unpredictability	6.8

Colour shows the area: teal technical, purple tactical, orange physical. Afritech Sports scout grades, Kenyan Premier League reference group. Weaker foot and set pieces are next review items. [19]
